Environmentally-conscious students will appreciate the use of solar power, the preservation of blue gum trees, indoor landscaping and natural outdoor green spaces interspersed throughout the property. These innovations place sustainability, technology, and community at the core of the experience.

Centurion entered the Australian student accommodation market in 2014 with a first property in Melbourne and in 2019, added a second property in Adelaide. Both its Melbourne and Adelaide PBSA, as well as 10 PBSA in the UK, three in the US, and two in Hong Kong SAR, China, operate under the Dwell Student Living brand. EPIISOD builds on the success of Dwell, to provide students in Australia with diverse affordable and elevated accommodation choices.

David Loh, Joint Chairman and Executive Director at Centurion said, “Launching EPIISOD in Sydney marks an important milestone for Centurion and represents our ongoing commitment to redefine student accommodation globally. The EPIISOD brand augments our Company’s thriving portfolio, currently comprising 37 accommodation assets across Asia, the UK and the US, and provides a premium experience that meets the highest standards of design and functionality, while fostering a sense of community to underscore a student’s tertiary education journey. We are proud to introduce the new brand to the market, and to set a new benchmark for student living first in Australia, and globally.”

Beyond Macquarie Park, Sydney, Centurion has plans already in progress to develop more PBSA properties in Australia, bringing EPIISOD to at least four more sites in Melbourne and Perth in the coming years.
